Governors Were Hard to Spot in Town During Their National Conference Here

In many ways, Princeton was the calm in the eye of the storm during the National Governors' Conference, which ended on Tuesday.

Most events were played out along its borders. Democratic Presidential Nominee Bill Clinton drove down Route 206 for a quick visit to fellow Democratic Governors, who had gathered on Saturday at LaFollette Wineries in Belle Mead. The Republicans held their Saturday get-together at Merrill Lynch.

Scanticon, off Route 1 in Plainsboro, was the hub of the conference, where the event's serious business was attended to. Attendees also booked rooms at the Hyatt, Marriott, and Nassau Inn.

Chartered Suburban Trails buses brought the Governors, their staffs, and others into Princeton, where the parked buses at Palmer Square started to become a familiar sight.

The town exerted its own quirky charm. Here and there you could find a Governor dining. Actually, most were hard to spot. Unless you happened to be a platinum blonde woman — like Texas Governor Ann Richards — a governor looks like anybody else. Only their identification badges set them apart.

Nassau Street was bright with the flags of the states and territories, although a promised banner welcoming the Governors never materialized.

Many shops had signs in their windows welcoming the Governors. And the photographs of old Princeton provided by the Historical Society drew steady attention and comments from passersby.

Of course, everyone at the Conference thought they never left Princeton — even when they were at Scanticon. Explanations of the zip code system that gives neighboring towns a Princeton address brought looks of puzzlement. To anyone who seemed slightly upset, the phrase "greater Princeton" appeared calming.

But the confusions of the zip code paled in comparison with the fact that Princeton has two Mayors. Borough Mayor Marvin Reed said no one could believe this. And Mayor Reed didn't even get to explain that one was a Democrat and the other a Republican. (There was always the danger that partisan Governors would simply up and leave.)

One result of being an insider to the zip code business showed in the difference in

Borough, Township Reach Accord on Selling Old Firehouse

Princeton's brand-new firehouse is scheduled to be ready for occupancy in less than a month — on September 1 — but the firehouse it will replace remains unsold.

The proceeds from the sale of the Chambers Street firehouse — assessed by the municipal tax assessor several years ago at $1.3 million — are to be used to offset the costs of building the new Witherspoon Street fire station, the first in Princeton Township.

The only way the State will permit the Borough to sell the Chambers Street firehouse is by auction. Township Committee had asked that an independent assessor be hired prior to the auction to determine the value of the circa-1930s brick building. Balking at paying the approximately $8,000 an assessor would have cost, Borough Council said "no" to the idea.

Borough Council and Township Committee met jointly last week to discuss their differences. As a compromise, the two governing bodies agreed to hire an auctioneer who was equipped to provide an assessment.

The towns will have the right to reject any or all bids at the auction.

Township Committeewoman Ellen Souter complained that the building should have been sold 15 months ago. "It's costing us $3,000 a month to carry the loan," she said. The fire station is owned by Princeton Borough.

"What might come out of the auction is the need to consider zoning," suggested Township Administrator James Pascale.

Borough Mayor Marvin Reed, noting that this concern had been brought up previously, said there could be a challenge on spot zoning. "All attorneys involved have advised us we cannot spot zone," he said.

Jury Trial Likely in Case Against Police Involving Motocyclist's Death after Pursuit

More than six years after their son, Mark, was killed in a motorcycle crash while being pursued by police, Elmer and Patricia Kollar may finally get their day in court this fall.

The latest decision in the suit involving the Kollars and the Borough Police Department, arising out of a May 1, 1986 incident, was handed down last week by State Superior Court Judge Andrew Smithson. It denied another attempt by the Borough to have the Kollar's suit dismissed.

Lawyers for the Borough and two of its patrolmen plan to file another appeal with the State Appellate Court within the 15-day deadline. A further appeal to the State Supreme Court is also expected. But if both courts refuse to hear the appeals, and this seems likely, the trial is scheduled to begin Monday, October 19.

The Kollar's suit, filed a couple of months after their son was killed, is built around two allegations. They contend that Patrolmen Donald Dawson, now a sergeant on the force, and Kenneth Lozier, currently a law clerk at the Mercer County Courthouse, engaged in a reckless, high speed chase in pursuit of their son, newspaper datelines. In its articles on the Governors' Conference, the New Ynrk Times used a Princeton dateline. The Times of Trenton carefully datelined its stories "Plainsboro."

Early in the planning stages, Princeton University was considered a strong possibility as the site of most cnnference events. This proved impractical, hut the University remained the major focus of social activities.

An interfaith scrvice was held Sunday morning at the University Chapel, followed by brunch at Prospect for the Governors and their families. A big party was held on the campus Sunday night — and an even bigger one took place at Jadwin Gym Monday night, the last night of the conference. About 1,500 attended.

There was lots of food, Jersey peaches on every table, New Jersey wines, and replicas of famous State sights. These included the Palmer Square kiosk, as well as the Holland Tunnel and a portion of Giants' Stadium.

Everyone could have their photo taken holding the 1991 Super Bowl trophy, but white gloves had to be worn to avoid getting fingermarks on the silver trophy.

After the party had gone on a few hours, Gov. and Mrs. Jim Florio walked on stage to greet the crowd. They got a laugh when they said they were the warm-up act for the Beach Boys, who followed them on stage. During the Beach Boys' songs, contestants for Miss New Jersey paraded across the stage in swimsuits.

From meetings on education and the environment, to the Beach Boys in Jadwin — that was the 84th Annual Governors' Conference.

For an August weekend in Princeton, it wasn't bad.

Mr. Paseale said he didn't think spot zoning was a concern. "With good planning in advance, the prohlem can he resolved." He did not elaborate.

The joint meeting completed, Borough Council began its regularly seheduled meeting.

After considerable comment from neighbors opposing the ordinance, Council approved legislation that would hring all-day parking hack to Murray Place and neighhoring streets.

An earlier ordinance had changed all-day parking to two-hour parking, but several members of Council felt that this placed an undue burden on residents of streets such as Pine and Maple.

Nassau Seafood's Jack Morrison agreed. "I'm speaking for the merchants," he said. "It has been an enormous burden to take all the parking from Murray Place and Princeton Avenue, a great load on merchants and residents. I'm here to support an equal burden on all of us."

Councilman Ray Wadsworth said he had received a lot of phone calls in the last week-and-a-half objecting to the removal of two-hour parking limitations. "They were not contacted about them," he said.

"I personally dropped leaflets at every home in the neighborhood," said Councilman David Goldfarb. "Everybody has to recognize there are demands for parking in all areas. There are prices to pay in every neighborhood."

After the vote, Mayor Reed told the disappointed neighbors that he was sure the ordinance will be revisited in the future.

Other Parking Problems

In a memo distributed to members of Council, Mayor Reed said that parking limitations around the University at the east end of town are not the Borough's only parking concern. He cited the need for additional parking around the Public Library as well as for replacement spaces in the Maclean Street lot when affordable housing is built there.

Mayor Reed said he had recently had discussions with the new executive director and board president of the YMCA, and learned that the Y is ready to begin focusing on plans for capital expansion.

"They would like to know if the Borough is serious about a joint venture on parking," said the Mayor.

Mayor Reed also suggested that Leonard T. Bier, a parking consultant, be brought in to speak to Council. "I would suggest," said the Mayor, "that the Borough invest some money in professionalizing its approach to studying parking needs and future possibilities."

Council agreed to hear Mr. Bier's ideas at a future meeting — providing he did not charge for his appearance.

Salary Increases

In other business, Mayor Reed broke a tie to vote for acceptance of a six percent salary increase for Borough employees. Supporting the increase were Mildred Trotman and Jane Terpstra. Ray Wadsworth and David Goldfarb opposed it.

On the new salary scale, the maximum pay for the highest grade level of Borough employee, horough administrator (grade 13), would be $78,821. The maximum for Grade 12, the borough engineer, would be $74,200.

The grade 1 maximum salary (record clerk-court, records clerk-engineering, and secretarial aide) would he $22,375.

Only Mr. Goldfarh voted against granting a 6.75 percent salary increase to Borough police. Patrol officers who have graduated from the police academy would earn $33,068. Sergeants will be paid $49,095, and lieutenants $57,426. Chief of Police Thomas Michaud will earn $66,761.

Council agreed to cancel its August 6 meeting and several members expressed doubt that there would be a need to hold the August 25 meeting. The next Borough Council meeting is scheduled for August 11.

KICKING OFF THE CONFERENCE: Mayor Marvin Reed, far right, stands next to Borough Merchants for Princeton President Leo Arons about ten minutes before they led a stroll down Nassau Street Thursday night in honor of the National Governors' Conference. Those in the procession stopped to see the rare and historic photos of old Princeton that had been placed in dozens of shop windows. Councilman Ray Wadsworth is standing in front of the table, which held punch and cake served in honor of Mayor Reed's 61st birthday.

Mountain Ave. Bikepath Issue Finally Settled

Township Committee held an unusual late afternoon meeting on Monday to give Committee members an opportunity to attend the National Governors' Conference festivities at Jadwin Gym. The meeting began and ended in closed session, but in between several items of business were taken care of. Committee will not meet again until Tuesday, September 8.

The matter of the 200-foot-long piece of bikepath on Mountain Avenue was finally resolved. Having researched the topic, the affected residents were able to establish that no bikepaths constructed by the Township before 1990 were assessed 75 percent to abutting property owners, as they were being assessed. They also pointed out that although Princeton University was assessed 75 percent of the cost of the bikepath along Alexander Road, the cost of this path was $10 a linear foot as opposed to $40 a linear foot that finishing the Mountain Avenue bikepath will cost because of difficult topography.

The residents also discovered that three property owners were not assessed for the continuation of the bikepath along Mercer Road between Parkside Drive and Quaker Road when Mercer Road was being reconstructed. According to Township Engineer Robert V. Kiser, Committee at that time decided it was "in the public good" to extend the Mercer bikepath that distance and did not assess the property owners at the time the contract was awarded.

Most of the bikepaths in the Township have been built as the result of a private contribution (The Great Road), or by the developer because of a Planning Board condition placed on site plan approval. Or, as Committeewoman Phyllis Marchand noted, bikepaths on the Bikepath Master Plan have not been built because they weren't thought to be necessary or nobody wanted to bear the cost.

Change in Thinking

Mayor Richard Woodbridge said that there has been a change in thinking to make the public (i.e. abutting property owners) bear part of bikepath cost, hence the 75-25 percent ratio. Committeewoman Ellen Souter, embarrassed by the new information that residents on Mercer Road weren't assessed, apologized to the residents whom, she said, had been "jerked around." She asked for a formal policy clarifying the assessment for the future.

The matter once again seemed in danger of getting lost in an indecisive quagmire, except that Mr. Kiser had to have a decision in order to award the contract, which is part of the Stuart Road reconstruction that is about to begin. Eleanor Pinelli, speaking for the residents, pointed out that the residents have never been opposed to a bike path, only to the extraordinary costs caused by the topography, and were willing to go along with Mr. Kiser's first proposal, made in June, that the assessment be made on the bikepath per se without the additional costs.

After much juggling of figures, which included applying the entire $5,832 from the Yedlin development earmarked for bikepaths to reducing the Township's cost, it was agreed that a new ordinance will be drawn up based on Mr. Kiser's first proposal. The residents will also benefit from an anonymous $500 gift made after a majority of Committee, led by Mrs. Souter, voted to introduce an ordinance that based the 75 percent assessments on the full costs, including costs attributable to topography, less 10 percent of the Yedlin money.

Under Mr. Kiser's proposal, the residents would pay several hundred dollars; under the 75 percent of the full costs, including the retaining wall, the residents who own two lots would pay several thousand dollars. The first ordinance wns not adopted. A substitute was introduced, upping the Yedlin contribution to 25 percent, but was also not adopted.

The new ordinance will have a public hearing on Tuesday, September 8. Thanks to the Yedlin money, the Township "exposure" will be reduced from about $7,373 to about $1,541. But there have been, as Mrs. Marchand pointed out, additional costs in advertising public notice and legal fees in the six weeks since the original ordinance was first aired in mid-June. The new version is basically the same as the first, except for the extra moneys that have been thrown in on both sides in the interim.

Employee Raises

In other business, Committee adopted its 1992 salary resolution, giving a 5 percent raise to all non-police employees and a 6.75 percent raise to police officers. Laurence Glasberg voted against the salary resolution, saying he wanted the Township to investigate nnd implement a system of pay increases based on merit.

Committee also approved a resolution authorizing the extension of a grace period for payment of third Quarter 1992 property taxes. According to Township Chief Financial Officer Himanshu Shah, the Township hopes to send out its 1992-93 tax bills between August 15 and August 20. Third quarter taxes would be due September 1; the Township's customary 10-day grace period would extend the due date to September 10 without penalty.

This grace period is only granted those property owners who are paid up; it does not apply to delinquent tax payers whose interest charges are retroactive to August.

Construction Claim

The Township has been handed a $375,000 construction claim by the contractor who did the road reconstruction of Mercer Street last year. Mr. Kiser told Committee he has reviewed the claim and thinks that there might be some additional amounts necessary but not nearly the amount requested. However, the matter is expected to go to arbitration, and Committee agreed Monday afternoon to appropriate $21,000 for the services of Nielsen-Wurster Inc. of Princeton, construction claims experts, who will review the claim and put together the Township's defense.

According to Mr. Kiser, the claim is based on such things as utilities not being accurately located by utility companies, interference hy a utility company, and additional costs due to extended construction time.

During the time for public comment on matters not on the agenda, Irving Urken of Urken Hardware asked if there was some way his business could be allowed to recycle cardboard packaging at the Township's Recycling Shed. He said he had let go his hauler, because most of what he discards is recycling material, 80 percent of it cardboard.

Mr. Urken said he was taking it to the Recycling Shed a couple of times a week until a recent clampdown at the shed against commercial operations. He said he would be willing to pay a tipping fee to be able to continue the practice.

Mr. Kiser said the Recycling Shed lately had been "totally inundated" by small businesses like Mr. Urken's taking cardboard there and had to enforce its "residents only" rule. Handling the volume of material, from which no revenue can be realized, has taken Township public works staff away from other duties, such as working on the roads, Mr. Kiser said.

He listed several problems that would arise if a fee system is implemented, including providing staff, being equitable, and administering the program. Mayor Woodbridge asked him to look into the possibilities and report back on September 8.

A Bullet Dinky?

Conceivably, the Dinky can now reach speeds of up to 60 m.p.h. — but that isn't the plan.

NJ Transit has replaced the old Dinky tracks with new continuously welded rails as part of its overall maintenance improvement program, said NJT Spokeswoman Kathleen Donahue. She said about 75 percent of the linc's tracks have already been replaced.

According to Ms. Donahue, the new tracks reduce maintenance costs, provide a smoother ride, and keep the noise level down.

They can also provide twice the speed of the former tracks. In this case, from 30 m.p.h. to 60 m.p.h.

But, said Ms. Donahue, there are no plans to bring the shuttle up to its maximum potential. She did say, however, that there would be some increase in speed on the rail linc from Princeton to Princeton Junction.

Two Princeton Lawyers Take State to Court

After a nearly four-week window in which the State may have issued thousands of driver's licenses without proof of United States citizenship, New Jersey last week resumed requiring applicants for a driver's license to provide such proof.

Within hours of Attorney General Robert Del Tufo's directive to return the past, long-standing policy, Princeton attorneys Bruce I. Afran and Roger C. Martindell filed their lawsuit.

The suit was filed on behalf of a dozen individuals and organizations, including six people listed as illegal aliens but not identified by name.

Most states require applicants for driver's licenses to provide documents to prove their identity and age. New Jersey also requires proof of legal status in the country, which would generally be a U.S. birth certificate or certificate of naturalization.

Also questioning the legality of resuming the documentation policy was Legal Services of New Jersey, a nonprofit group that provides legal representation to low-income people.

The directive requiring applicants for a driver's license to provide only documents providing identity and age, not legal status, took effect on July 1. As word spread of the policy change, lines at motor vehicle offices grew, with many having people wait up to four hours for service.

"There was sound legal support for the July 1 policy change," Mr. Del Tufo said. "However, there are compelling arguments as well that people illegally in this country have no right to licensure.

He added that the matter demands legislative clarification as to what information Motor Vehicle Services can and should be asking people to supply upon seeking a license. "The issues are delicate, human and far-reaching, and should appropriately be considered by the Legislature," he said.

ENJOYING THE PARTY: Joseph Cicippio, who now makes his home in Princeton, is shown at the National Governors' Conference "Celebrate New Jersey" party. He recently observed the third anniversary of what was to have been his execution day by honoring those who prayed for his release.

Shoplifters Are Caught After Hitting 3 Stores

Fortunately for Princeton merchants and police, four Paterson residents didn't have the sense to know when to stop their shoplifting spree last week.

Taking advantage of extended shopping hours last Thursday evening, the quartet had already bagged three dresses from a Nassau Street boutique, worth $158 apiece, and three more from a Palmer Square East shop, valued at $98 each.

Rolling the dice once more, one of them zipped into a Hulfish Street store, and slipped out with $308 worth of shirts. This time, however, an alert clerk was aware of what was going on, followed him outside, and got a description of the car he entered Borough Police got the information and broadcast it to the Township as well as their own officers. A Township patrol car actually made the stop right on Monument Drive, near Borough Police headquarters.

Ivan Asmat, 33, of Paterson was arrested and charged with shoplifting. Javier Perez, 27, of Paterson, was charged with possession of under 50 grams of marijuana and under 50 grams of hashish. Elizabeth Morales, 27, of Paterson was found to be wanted on a warrant in Bergen County. A fourth passenger in the car was not charged.

Elizabethtown Water Co. Files for Rate Increase

Elizabethtown Water Company has petitioned the New Jersey Board of Regulatory Commissioners for a rate increase that would yield an increase in revenues of $12.3 million or approximately 13.8 percent over current revenues. The water company won a rate increase just four months ago.

"Elizabethtown finds it will be necessary to file for annual rate increases to offset costs associated with meeting regulatory requirements and the needs of its customers," says Thomas Cawley, Elizabethtown Water Company president.

The largest portion of the increase will cover the costs to finance $36.5 million for construction projects that were not reflected in the March 1992 rate hike. These projects include water treatment, transmission and storage facilities, according to a statement from Elizabethtown.

The increase will also offset higher costs for power, labor and benefits and for water purchased from the State. The rate increase request does not include the $650,000 the company expects to pay to purchase 30 acres off Route 206 on which to construct two water storage tanks.

Elizabethtown maintains that even under the proposed rates, its rates are lower than those of most other New Jersey water companies. The average Elizabethtown residential customer using 2,700 cubic feet or 20,200 gallons of water per quarter (the regular billing period) would notice a cost increase of $9.16 per quarter or 70 cents per week.

The proposed rate increase will affect customers in the greater Princeton area but not customers of The Mount Holly Water Company, a subsidiary of Elizabethtown.

Titusville Man Charged In Handgun Incident

A 21-year-old Titusville man has been arrested in connection with a handgun incident on the evening of July 21 on Nassau and Witherspoon streets.

Borough police have charged Ethan Glading with aggravated assault and weapons offenses for allegedly brandishing an unloaded pistol during an altercation with two other youths.

Glading pulled the gun out of his pants and pointed it at the youths, first on Nassau Street and later in a parking lot on Witherspoon Street after they had chased and caught him there. Alfie Kahn, owner of Abel Bagel, intervened to break up the fight and was credited with kicking the gun, a 7.65 French semiautomatic, out of Glading's hand.

All the youths fled as police arrived, but a follow-up investigation resulted in Glading's arrest. He was released after posting $2,500 bail.

Saturday Night Fight Results in Charges

Edgar Garcia, 34, of Leigh Avenue, is facing charges of aggravated assault, possession of a knife for unlawful purposes and using a knife for same after a melee involving about 40 people early Sunday morning.

After being notified by a passerby, four Borough patrolmen, supported by two from the Township, arrived at the Arts Council Building at the corner of Witherspoon and Paul Robeson Place about 1 a.m. They found about 40 people enaged in separate fights, but managed to restore order in 15 minutes.

Garcia is alleged to have stabbed one 21-year-old Borough man, who was taken to the Princeton Medical Center for a wound in the arm. He was treated and released, as were two West Windsor men, 22 and 23, who were treated for cuts and bruises. Garcia, who was also treated for cuts and scrapes, was released after posting 10 percent of $10,000 bail.

According to Borough Police, the investigation is continuing, and they expect to file more charges against other individuals. Police are also looking into whether there was a liquor law violation at the Arts Center, or whether liquor was brought in by those attending the party.

Left in Ladies' Room, Pearl Necklace Vanishes

A pearl necklace left no more than 10 minutes in a second floor ladies' room in the Nassau Inn disappeared last Friday, leaving a 52-year-old Stanton woman heartbroken.

The woman had been adding pearls to the necklace for several years, and had about 70 on the strand, worth $2,000. The necklace was inside a LaVake Jewelers bag, and was left behind after a trip to the ladies' room between 2:30 and 2:40. When she returned the bag was gone.

Two Township Homes Hit By Burglar Last Week

Two homes in the Township, next door to each other on Princeton-Kingston Road, were burglarized sometime during the day last Thursday. No one was home in either house at the time.

At the first, a screen was cut to gain entry to a porch, and from there a door was forced open. Upon returning home around 7 p.m., the homeowner noticed a door open and basement lights on. Taken was a Panasonic VCR, CD player and Sony Camcorder, collectively valued at $405; jewelry worth $2,230 and $30 in cash.

Next door, a front door was forced to gain entry. A family member discovered the theft later in the day, but a complete report of what was taken is unavailable, because the homeowners are on vacation.

Unattended and unlocked bicycles have always been fair game for thieves in Princeton. Now it seems you better not let your lawn mower out of your sight. A Catalyst Construction Company employee was mowing the grass on the Governor's Lane property by Terbune Road July 29. He left his '91 Toro self-propelled push mower with its motor idling for no more than five minutes around 10:30. The $646 mower was gone when he returned.

A Princeton University student left her purse under the front seat of her '71 VW Bug convertible July 28 while she strolled along the banks of Lake Carnegie for 45 minutes between 8:15 and 9 p.m. She now is out $5 in cash, credit cards, plus a leather wallet and the handbag, both valued at $50 apiece.

In the one reported theft from a vehicle last week, a Belle Mead resident lost an AM-FM cassette stereo from the dashboard of his 1991 Jeep Wrangler, while it was parked at Princeton Shopping Center on August 1. It was valued at $350.

A pot left boiling on the stove of a Cherry Hill Road home last Saturday afternoon triggered several responses. First the smoke alarm went off, next an alarm connected to a Central Jersey Alarm Company signalled a fire, and the company in turn called Township police.

A Township patrolman sent to the scene saw smoke coming out of a window, and a general alarm was sounded shortly thereafter. Investigating further, officers found an aluminum pot in the process of melting on the stove, and whatever was in it, burned away. A nearby teapot was also charred.

The pot — or whatever was left of it — was placed in the kitchen sink and windows opened to clear the smoke. The fire trucks were sent home.

Rider Student Dies After Fall on Road

A Rider College student, living in Princeton, has died after he fell and fractured his skull on Mt. Lucas Road Saturday, July 25.

Stephen B. Goldstone, 20, of Ft. Lauderdale, Florida, never regained consciousness after the fall, and died Tuesday, July 28 in Princeton Medical Center. He had undergone emergency surgery to relieve pressure on his brain. Mercer County prosecutor Maryann K. Bielamowicz, whose office investigated the accident, reported that an autopsy showed that Mr. Goldstone died of complications from the surgery when blood clots traveled to his heart.

Township police said that friends of Mr. Goldstone visited him at his apartment on Mt. Lucas near Jefferson Road that Saturday night. They left around 11 p.m., but for some reason he apparently ran after their car. He tripped and fell, striking the left side of his head on the pavement.

The driver of the car noticed in his rearview mirror that Mr. Goldstone was running after them. He stopped, and the friends got out to find Mr. Goldstone face down on the road, unconscious and bleeding. He was rushed to the Medical Center by the Princeton First Aid Squad.

According to Earle Rommel of Rider, Mr. Goldstone had just finished a summer term there the previous day, and would have been a senior this fall. He said Mr. Goldstone was an "above-average" student, who served on the college's judicial board.

A funeral service was held last Thursday in Utica, N.Y., where Mr. Goldstone was born.

Stolen Credit Cards Don't Pass the Test

Youths trying to purchase items with stolen credit cards in Princeton stores were caught by police in two separate incidents last week.

John Thompson, 22, of Tupelow Row, attempted to purchase a number of items in a Witherspoon Street store last Friday, using a VISA card stolen in New Brunswick. Running a check on the card, the clerk discovered it had been stolen, and called police.

Thompson was still in the store when they arrived, and faces a court hearing on August 10.

A theft of a purse from a Chambers Street office last Thursday evening netted $18 in cash, and some credit cards. Just a couple of hours later, four juveniles from New Brunswick tried to use the card in a Hulfish Street clothing store.

The clerk became suspicious when they took only a few minutes to bring $650 worth of

Princeton-Trained Crew Finishes 4th at Olympics

It was a disappointing final for the men's eight with coxswain that had trained on Lake Carnegie for nine months in the hopes of winning a medal, preferably gold, at the 1992 Olympics.

Having won its preliminary heat and come in second behind Germany in the semifinal, the men's eight finished fourth in the medal final on Sunday afternoon. Canada, which also won gold medals in women's eight with coxswain and the women's four with coxswain, was first, followed by Romania. The USA entry, which included two Princeton University crew coaches, John Parker as stroke and Michael Teti in bow, was ahead of Germany in the first 500 meters of the race but could not fend off this rival in the second half.

The men's four with coxswain, which had also trained on Lake Carnegie under the tutelage of Kris Korzeniowski of Penns Neck, national technical director for the United States Rowing Association, also finished fourth in the final. Coached by Curtis Jordan, men's heavyweight crew coach at Princeton, the men's four with coxswain gained the finals by winning its repechage (second chance) heat after placing second behind Romania in the first round. Whether it was the heat, reported to be over 100 degrees in Banyoles, Spain, where the rowing events took place, or overconfidence from having done well in the preliminary rounds that kept these two from medalling, is anyone's guess.

Overall the final results were below what had been expected of the U.S. crews at these Olympic Games. US Rowing had spent considerable sums to beef up the coaching and training of its national team in hopes of regaining some of the ascendancy United States crews enjoyed in the early post-war period. Of the 14 crews in the U.S. roster, there were only three medal winners, two silver and one bronze, although nine crews qualified for finals.

Anne Marden, Princeton University graduate of the Class of 1981 who won a silver medal in the women's single in the 1988 Olympics, was edged out of third place by Silken Laumann of Canada. Ms. Laumann's return to competitive rowing a month after leg surgery following a rowing accident in June was both incredible and inspiring.

Doug Burden, Princeton '87, was in the men's four without coxswain that won its first heat and placed second in the finals. This boat trained in Philadelphia under Ted Nash of the Penn Athletic Club.

The women's four without a coxswain also earned a silver medal, and the women's pair without a coxswain, which included Stephanie Maxwell-Pierson of Somerville, won the bronze in its final.

Princeton Chamber Gala To Honor Astronaut Aldrin

The Princeton Area Chamber of Commerce will recognize astronaut Buzz Aldrin as one of the greatest explorers since Christopher Columbus at a gala celebration on Saturday evening, September 19, in the Marriott at Forrestal Village.

This event, part of a year-long celebration undertaken by the chamber to commerate the 500th anniversary of Columbus' voyage to the New World, will also recognize Italy and Spain as the impetus for Christopher Columbus' exploration of the Americas.

"All of the programs we have scheduled are designed to underscore how scientific inquiry enriches human life," said John O'Leary, general chairman of the "Year of the Explorer."

We are honoring the great pioneers of scientific exploration for their courage, vision, and undaunted determination, with an eye toward inspiring both young and old within the greater Princeton community to reach for new horizons as we approach the uncharted world of the 21st century."

Gov. Jim Florio and Buzz Aldrin are designated honorary chairmen of the "Year of the Explorer" program. Marie A. Clark, president of RaMar Inc., will chair the gala.

Events to date have included a series of seminars. Subsequent lectures are, "Exploring New Horizons in Space," September 18 at Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School; "Exploring New Horizons in Electronics," October 21 at the David Sarnoff Research Center; and "Exploring New Horizons in Energy and the Environment," November 13 at Princeton University's Plasma Physics Laboratory.

Five St. Paul Students Take Part in Conference

Five Student Council members of St. Paul School attended TACSC, The Association of Catholic Student Councils, for a summer conference.

Daniel Klug, vice-president; Vanessa Nolan, treasurer; Kelly Burnett, commissioner of athletics; Lauren Ketterer, commissioner of publicity; and Janice Hutchinson, commissioner of assemblies, traveled to Villanova University in Pennsylvania on July 29 and stayed on campus through Sunday, August 2. Seventh and eighth grade students from all over the eastern portion of the country attended.

St. Paul's became a member of The Association of Catholic Student Councils this year. President, vice president, secretary, treasurer, and commissioners of publicity, athletics, assemblies, school spirit and safety and ecology are now part of St. Paul's student council after the new involvement with TACSC.

The students learned many things relating to student government, including communication skills and enhancement of leadership qualities. They also developed new confidence in themselves. The conference ended on Sunday with a mass at which family members were also present.

University Spinning Off Its Computer Network

The Princeton University-based computer network known as JvNCnet is spinning off from the University and becoming a separately incorporated, privately held entity as of August 1.

The network will assume a new name, Global Enterprises Services, Inc., and will move from its campus location in the Engineering Quadrangle to a still-undetermined location in Princeton. There will be no change in the level of service to the network's 126 members as a result of the change in ownership.

JvNCnet has been on the Princeton campus for two years. The network was begun in 1986 as part of the John von Neumann National Supercomputing Center and continued after the center itself closed more than two years ago because of loss of federal funding. The network, with the last of its federal and state grant money expiring in June, has achieved its goal of financial self-sufficiency by more than doubling its membership the last two years.

"Incubating the network within the University until it could be spun off as an independent, tax-paying business was precisely our goal when the supercomputer center closed and it became apparent that federal money had a limited lifetime," said Jay Brandinger, executive director of the New

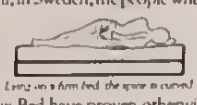
THE DUX BED

The bed your back has been aching for.

For years you've been told that a firm bed is better for your back.
Well, in Sweden, the people who make the Dux Bed have proven otherwise. They've proven that a firm bed resists, rather than conforms to, the position of the body. So the body must constantly adjust in order to get comfortable.
Small wonder people wake up tired. And with backaches.
The Dux Bed is designed to help eliminate back problems and give you a more restful night's sleep.
It has two layers of innersprings instead of the usual one.
The upper layer moulds itself to the contours of your body, allowing your spine to lie straight.
The bottom layer acts as a buffer against harsh movement, and provides firm support.
So come in and try the Dux Bed. Lie in it; take a nap.
You're going to love it.
Your back will, too.



Lying on a firm bed, the spine is curved.

In a Dux Bed, the spine is in the natural position.

The Dux Catalog "Advanced Technology in Sleeping" makes fascinating reading. And it's FREE. Mail this coupon to Duxiana Princeton Forrestal Village, 104 Village Boulevard, Princeton, NJ 08540, or call (609) 987-1717.

Teen Evenings Out

The Princeton Family YMCA is taking registration for Summer Steam, a travel program designed for active teenagers who enjoy visiting different places and meeting new people.

Steam is open to high school students ages 15 to 18 and takes place each night from 5 to midnight as participants travel to beaches, cities, malls and sports events in the tri-state area. The program for the coming week, August 10 through 14, begins with a tour of Penn's Landing, Philadelphia, and party on South Street on Monday.

On Tuesday, teenagers will drive race cars at Malibu Grand Prix, Mt. Laurel. On Wednesday, August 12, a trip is planned to the Franklin Mills Mall in North Philadelphia for shopping and a movie. The next evening will be spent on the boardwalk in Seaside Heights, and on Friday, August 14, there will be music, sports and other activities at the YMCA.

For more information and registration call the YMCA at 497-9622.

Jersey Commission on Science and Technology. The commission supplied funding for a five-year period ending in 1990. The National Science Foundation, which originally funded JvNCnet as one of the networks on the Foundation's NSFNET, always intended that the NSFNET would gradually become privately operated.

Princeton's Vice President for Computing and Information Technology, Ira Fuchs, who was instrumental in bringing JvNCnet to the Princeton campus, said, "We are delighted with the success of this network over the past two years, and pleased that it is now spinning off into the commercial marketplace." Princeton University will remain a member of the network, which links more than 66 academic institutions to global data bases, supercomputers and other computer services.

Princeton Free Wheelers Will Tidy Up Highway

The Princeton Free Wheelers, an area bicycle club, will tidy up part of Princeton on Saturday, when members participate in the state's Adopt-a-Highway program, designed to beautify the state's highways.

The club has adopted two miles of Route 206, from Nassau Street south to the border with Lawrence Township. Signs erected by NJ DOT mark each end of the adopted segment. The state has provided participating club members with trash bags and reflective vests for the litter clean-up, which will begin at 3 p.m. Motorists are asked to drive cautiously in the pick-up area, as Free Wheeler volunteers will be walking near both sides of the highway.

The Princeton Free Wheelers is one of the first bicycle clubs in New Jersey to participate in the Adopt-a-Highway program. This will be the second pick-up in 1992. Project Leader Seth Chamberlain has promised additional pick-ups later in the year.

The club sponsors daily bicycle tours in central New Jersey and eastern Pennsylvania each weekend and summer evenings, and overnight trips to New England, Delaware, and Lancaster County, Pa. Tours are available for all levels of experience, from beginning adult to expert rider. Founded in 1981, the club now has nearly 1000 members.

For more information about the club, write Membership Chair at P.O. Box 1204, Princeton 08542-1204, or call 393-1206.

Lap-sit & Stories Planned For Infants at Library

Princeton Public Library will hold a lap-sit for parent and baby on Wednesday, August 12, at 10 a.m. The program consists of simple picture stories and songs for children under 2 and their parents or caregivers.

Courses in Japanese Are Available Here

Princeton Community Japanese Language School will offer four Japanese Language classes beginning September 20.

The classes will be held at Palmer Hall, Princeton University. The school was founded in 1980 with the support of Princeton University and the Ministry of Education in Japan.

In addition to adult and high school students' programs, the school has classes for Japanese children and Japanese-as-a-second-language.

Courses and monthly tuition for the year are, Beginner 1, $55; Beginner 2, $60; and Intermediate, $60.

A registration fee of $20 and a materials fee of $10 are required with the application. For more information, call Ms. Nobuko Manabe, 924-0734, or Ms. Yoshiko Okuda, 921-3801.

Animal Program Coming To Rocky Hill Library

The Mary Jacobs Library in Rocky Hill will present "Animal Olympics: Amazing Things Animals Can Do" with naturalist Diana Dove on Saturday, August 15 at 11 a.m.

This program for ages 2 through adult will include songs, slides and guessing games. Children will learn who the "record-holders" of the animal world are, such as the best jumper, tallest animal, best breath holder, etc.

Children are asked to wear sneakers and bring an animal riddle written on paper with the child's name included.

For further information, and to register, call the library at 924-7073.

3 More Persons Charged In Graffiti Incident

Three more people have been charged by Borough police in connection with the spraying of black paint on a Nassau Street sidewalk July 26.

Justin Crosby, 19, of Gallup Road, was arrested and charged with criminal mischief that Sunday night after officer Curtis Vanchoff discovered the graffiti around 9:45. Various symbols had been painted, including a pentagram, inverted crucifixes and the numerals "666". Other drawings included a broken heart and a face resembling cartoon character Bart Simpson.

Further investigation by police resulted in charges against three other youths. Timothy McCullough, 19, of Hopewell, was charged with the theft of the black paint from the Arts Council and criminal mischief. Two juveniles, a 16-year-old from Pennington, and a 15-year-old from Margate, were also charged with juvenile delinquency.

SINGING IN ENGLAND: John Griffith, left, and Joel Wuthnow, members of the boys' choir at Trinity Church, will sing at Canterbury Cathedral in England during the last two weeks in August. They will be the only two Americans in a choir, which is selected from English cathedral and church choirs to sing daily services at Canterbury Cathedral while the resident choir is on vacation.

Births to Area Residents Reported by Med. Center

Six boys were born to area residents at Princeton Medical Center from June 21 to July 30.

Sons were born to James and Anita Groome of Princeton, June 21; Scott and Bonnie Simmons of Belle Mead, Paul and Karen Palumbo of Princeton, and Lawrence and Margaret Marino of Lawrenceville, all on July 20.

Also, to Michael and Annette Lunn-Hudgins, Plainsboro, and Andrew and Suzanne Buchsbaum, Princeton, both on July 30.

Also, on June 22 at the medical center, a son was born to Jane Billington and Johnson Flucker of New York City, formerly of Princeton.

Summer Writing Camp Extended Another Week

The Arts Council of Princeton has announced an additional week of the Summer Writing Camp for students 8 to 16, taught by Donna Clovis. It will be extended through August 14, due to the excellent response to the camp.

In this workshop, students learn techniques for writing poetry and short stories. The instructor, Donna Clovis, is a published poet, writing consultant and teacher.

The camp meets Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to noon. Dates for the extended camp are August 10 to 14. The tuition of $90 includes all materials and refreshments. Class size will be limited to 10 per session.

To register or for more information, call or write The Arts Council of Princeton, 102 Witherspoon Street, Princeton 08542. 924-8777.

Elmer Kollar Lists 3 Pre-Conditions Before He'll Discuss a Settlement

Elmer Kollar said Monday he would be willing to enter into discussions for a settlement if the defendants first met three conditions.

First, he would like Kenneth Lozier to write a letter of explanation describing "what really happened that night."

Second, he would like the Borough Council to write a letter of apology for the "shocking and despicable actions" of its police department.

Third, whatever financial settlement is reached should not be kept secret.

Mr. Kollar would not disclose what amount he plans to sue for, but his attorney, Robert Ballard, has called it a "multi-million dollar suit." "My wife and I do not need the money," Mr. Kollar said. "We do not need blood money. My wife works and so do I."

Mrs. Kollar is a child guidance counselor, and Mr. Kollar is self-employed as an industrial engineer. They live in Washington (Warren County), and have a son, 24, and a daughter, 33.

Commenting on Judge Smithson's decision, Mr. Kollar said, "My wife and I expected it. We felt it could not go any other way. It is totally a question of good faith, and these police officers have acted totally without good faith all along.

"We have them falsifying the tapes, hiding an eye witness, and lying in their reports about their speed. I'm amazed the Borough wants to air its dirty linen in a trial for everyone to see."

Kollar Suit

in direct violation of a 2½-year-old Police Department General Order.

They believe this action contributed to Mark Kollar losing control of his motorcycle on a curve on lower Alexander Street below the Rusty Scupper restaurant. He died when his motorcycle hit a guard rail, then three small trees, and ultimately came to rest on top of him.

In the police version of the events, the patrolmen say they followed Mark Kollar's motorcycle down Alexander from the time it turned in front of them at the intersection with Mercer a few minutes after midnight on May 1. Police have said they observed the motorcycle weaving back and forth on Alexander, and called for a license plate check.

When they turned on their patrol car's red lights and siren at 12:12 p.m. at the intersection of Alexander and University Place, Mark Kollar increased his speed significantly. In sworn statements, Patrolmen Dawson and Lozier say they maintained a speed of 35 miles an hour at this point. Nearly three minutes later, they told the dispatcher they were in pursuit, and in another 12 seconds they reported Mark Kollar's accident.

Discrepancies

Elmer Kollar claims he has traveled the distance between the University Place/Alexander intersection and the spot his son's motorcycle left the road six times. At this hour of night, Mr. Kollar says, it takes less than a minute to travel the distance at 35 mph.

Secondly, Kollar believes these alleged discrepancies point to a cover-up by police of what actually happened. The Kollars allege that police later altered the tapes of their conversations with the dispatcher on seeing Kollar's accident, called in a false sequence of events in the chase.

Police and the Kollars both agree that Mark was legally drunk at the time of the accident. His blood-alcohol level was 0.106, higher than the 0.1 level for intoxication.

He had left Conte's Bar earlier, where he had been drinking with other members of the Princeton Testing Laboratories softball team. Mr. Kollar also has suits pending against Conte's and Princeton Testing. Suits against Princeton Township and its Police Department (the crash occurred in the Township) have been dropped.

At the heart of the most recent appeal by the Borough is a Supreme Court decision this spring in Tice vs. Kramer. In this case, police pursued a vehicle in a high-speed chase which eventually collided with a pickup truck, killing its driver. In a subsequent wrongful death civil suit filed against police, the State Supreme Court upheld an Appellate Division ruling that granted absolute immunity to police officers and municipalties from suits arising from high-speed chases.

Borough attorneys sought to have the Tice ruling applied to the Kollar suit. However, Judge Smithson was apparently swayed by the arguments of Robert Ballard, the Kollars' attorney. Mr. Ballard argued that protection afforded municipalities under state law is predicated on a showing that the police action was not tainted by bad faith.

Two Questions

"The court sees two questions," Judge Smithson wrote in his opinion. "First is good faith required in order that the immunity ... may be applied. And secondly, if good faith is a requirement, have plaintiffs ... made out a prima facie case that the Prineeton Borough patrolmen were not acting in good faith by pursuing Mark Kollar's motorcyele? The court answers both questions in the affirmative."

Judge Smithson eoneluded that the Kollars have made out a prima facie jury case that the Prineeton Borough poliee offieers were not aeting in good faith. "Serious questions exist: "did the officers engage in wrongful conduet in failing to follow the direetion of General Order 83-3? And, if so, would such conduet negate good faith? ... Ultimately, a jury must address and answer these questions at time of trial. Judge Smithson wrote."

The Borough Poliee Department's General Order 83-3, dated September 8, 1983 reads in part:

"Motor, vehicle violations themselves are not generally sufficient justification for high speed pursuit. The exception is where the operator of the motor vehicle being pursued has struck a pedestrian or operator of another vehiele and is fleeing the seene to avoid detection and apprehension. In such case, pursuit may be justified. In cases of lesser violations of the motor vehicle law, pursuit with its attendant risks shall not be employed."

Judge Smithson wrote that he would have dismissed the suit, "but for the role that General Order 83-3 plays in this case. "However [it] eannot simply be swept under the rug. It is present and plays a eritical role in the evaluation of the conduct of the Princeton Borough poliee officers."

Borough Will Appeal

Borough attorney Michael Herbert said he has already begun work on the appeal to the State Appellate Court. "We believe that there is a reasonable chance that the Appellate Division will grant an appeal," he commented.

Mr. Herbert was dismayed by Judge Smithson's interpretation of the immunity law. "Even if the facts of the case are true, and that has yet to be proven, damages are not recoverable under this tort immunity statute," he said.

If necessary, he will appeal to the State Supreme Court as well. "We will do everything we ean to prevent these offieers from going through the ordeal of a trial. All they were trying to do was carry out their responsibilities to protect lives."

Gerald Hanson, attorney for Patrolman Dawson, echoed Mr. Herbert's comments.

"When I look at the facts of Tice and look at facts of other cases, I would think that this suit should have been dismissed long ago," he said. This ruling tells police officers in Mercer County they might not be afforded the same protections federal and ease law gives officers throughout the country."

"We can't lose track of the faets, which are that Mark Kollar took off at an accelerated speed without police officers doing anything more than activating their sirens and lights," Mr. Hanson said.

English Shop Window Displays the States of the Union

Although inelegantly mounted on squares of brown cardboard packaging, the English Shop's window display featuring photographs of the governors and flags from many of the states rates several stars for being innovative and educational. It also provides a glimpse of how they do things in other states for chauvinist Princetonians.

From the moment it went up just before the National Governors' Conference began on Saturday, the window has drawn attention and comment from passersby. Princeton being a town of more people who came here from somewhere else than native-born, it gave residents an opportunity to point with some delight to their home states.

Parents used the window to show their children that the United States is indeed a collection of states. And adults of all ages found it interesting to see how the various states had responded to the invitation to contribute two items for display during the National Governors' Association Conference.

The idea for a theme window originated with Herbert Mihan Sr. of the English Shop and his window dresser as they talked about the upcoming conference last March. Mr. Mihan sent out letters in April to governors in all 50 states and the U.S. territories. He asked for a photo of each governor, preferably an 8x10 head shot, and a small flag of the state or territory. He also invited the governors to come see the theme window during or after store hours while they were in Princeton.

He says the responses were much more varied than he expected — so much so that he felt obliged to put copies of his original request in the window. The responses were mounted on individual boards just as they were received, with no "editorial" comment on the English Shop's part.

Perhaps the most notorious is the scrap of yellow legal pad sent by Florida with the handwritten anonymous note: "Sorry we do not have flags. You may write to the Secretary of States [sic] office and request one." No photograph was sent either.

Only a Few Sent Nothing

Only six states and the territories, American Samoa, Marianas Islands, Guam and Puerto Rico, sent nothing. Ten states sent a photo but no flag, citing rising postage rates, budget limitations, requests too numerous to handle any longer, or a supply depleted by requests in the aftermath of the Gulf War. Most of these states sent information on where to obtain a flag and supplied price lists.

In Massachusetts, flags are obtainable from the Department of Corrections; in Texas, they may be purchased from two shops in downtown Austin, one of which is called "Necessities and Temptations."

A majority of the states sent the requested portrait and flag, along with a letter. Some photos came without flags but with a letter or card; one photo came with neither flag nor letter. Most of the portraits are in color, although 14 are black and white, and three, including the head shot of New Jersey Governor Jim Florio, are 5x7. Gov. Ann Richards of Texas sent two photos, one black and white, one in color, both autographed.

The governor of Arizona sent a dual color photograph of himself and a woman, leaving the uninformed viewer to ponder whether she is his wife or the lieutenant governor. The governor of Iowa is not identified at all — no name on the photo, no accompanying letter from the state capital which would give the name. Tennessee's governor, Ned Ray McWherter, posed for his portrait at a desk with a big marble nameplate sitting on it, which helped identify him, because the accompanying letter came from the director of correspondence.

At least 14 governors wrote nice notes — dictated, typed and signed in person — which were very much appreciated by Mr. Mihan. Gov. Walter Hickel of Alaska wrote, "Your theme window sounds like a fun addition to the National Governors' Conference." Gov. E. Benjamin Nelson of Nebraska said the window display "sounds most interesting." Gov. George Mickelson of South Dakota said, "I hope I will have time to stop and see your very innovative display."

Mr. Mihan says he does not know if Gov. Mickelson did stop by, but he does know that Gov. Jim Edgar of Illinois came in, because an aide identified him to a store clerk. Illinois was one of two states that sent a bigger rendition of the state flag than was asked for; the other was New Mexico.

Touting the Home State

Several governors, including Norman Bangerter of Utah, Stan Stephens of Montana, and Lowell Weicker of Connecticut, took the opportunity to tout the charms of their own state. On the other hand, Gov. Tommy G. Thompson of Wisconsin wrote diplomatically that he was looking forward to the NGA meeting in Princeton, saying that "It gives my family and me some time to see the best of the U.S."

Others who wrote personal notes were John R. McKernan Jr. of Maine, Edwin Edwards of Louisiana, James G. Martin of North Carolina, Gaston Caperton of West Virginia, W. Donald Shaefer of Maryland, Guy Hunt of Alabama and George F. Voinovich of Ohio. Gov. Bill Clinton of Arkansas, who has been very busy this year, sent an autographed color photo and flag but no note.

In some instances deputies wrote the note. In Oregon, it was the assistant to the governor; in New York, the secretary to the governor; in Tennessee, the director of correspondence; in South Carolina, the state ombudsman; in Virginia, the director of constituent affairs; and in Massachusetts, the director of the executive secretariat.

The variations in titles, like the varying responses, were instructive in and of themselves, highlighting the fact that the United States is a nation of differences as well as similarities. Thanks to the English Shop governors' window, which will be up for a couple of weeks, Princeton residents who resort to playing "name the state capitals" with their children on long car rides have been given a new challenge — to see if they can now name the state governors.

ENVIRONMENTAL HEALTH with Sam daTuro

For the novice gardener, we present a few suggestions for growing beautiful roses. Roses need good soil and the best time to prepare a rose garden is in the fall, so that the materials added to the soil can do their work and be settled by spring.

Roses grow well in clay, but it needs to be kept loose so roots can breathe and be penetrated by water. Loosen soil with a spade to the depth of 18 to 20 inches and also approximately that width. Work in some compost or peat, also add some gypsum. Make sure the area you choose has good drainage. If roots on the plant are too long, cut them back to fit the hole, but retain as much of the root system as possible.

Canes should be pruned back to 10-12 inches before planting. Do this pruning ¼" above a bud eye at a slight downward angle. Replace most of the soil forming a mound or pyramid. Place plant on top of this spreading roots as evenly as possible. The crown/bud union should be 1 to 2" below level of bed in the North. Fill hole in to about ¾ full, tamping or firming the soil so that it is firmly packed around roots. Do this with hands, not feet. With hose add water to hole, filling it to the top, letting it soak into soil. When water has completely soaked in, fill hole with remaining soil.

To have strong, healthy bushes, one must prune throughout the growing season. Many rosarians remove the first blooms allowing the second cycle of bloom to mature. Doing this gives the bush more canes and stronger growth for summer and remainder of the year. After blooming, remove the spent blooms (this is known as deadheading). On new bushes the process of removing first blooms is different than on an older bush. Cut bloom at stem about ¼" above the first pair of 5 leaflet leaves. If you want more blooms, continue this as the bush grows older. Pruning is essential to 2-year-old bushes to rejuvenate them. Dead canes, dead wood, dying or diseased wood should be removed. Clean up all debris and old leaves to keep disease from spreading. It is also suggested that a bush be sprayed with fungicide at this time.

Next week, we'll continue with winterizing, fertilization and areas to plant your roses. For assistance with planting, preserving and keeping all things green in your garden, do call WOODWINDS at 924-3500 today!!!!

Two Films About Eating At Kresge Auditorium

McCarter Theatre's annual Summer Cinema season at Kresge Auditorium continues this Wednesday and Thursday, with Gabriel Axel's 1987 Oscar-winning Babette's Feast and Pupo Avati's The Story of Boys & Girls.

Babette's Feast is dedicated to that universal earthly delight: eating. As adapted by Mr. Axel from Isak Dinesen's novella, the story is set in the late 1800's on the wild and lonely seacoast of Danish Jutland, where two lonely spinsters, each with a secret passion in her past, live out their calm days.

Into this austere and Puritan world comes Babette, a mysterious French political refugee with a savory secret of her own. After 14 years of repression, she finally unleashes her talents in a glorious banquet that becomes a kind of gastronomic Armageddon — a battle of culinary salvos whose dazzling delectability has to be seen to be believed.

Underlying this charming parable is a heartfelt testament to the joys of artistic expression, and to the reconciliation of the holy and the sensual, the spirit and the flesh. A cinematic treat that the memory will long savor, Babette's Feast is a wry fable of pleasures deferred and pleasures devoured.

The evening's co-feature, The Story of Boys & Girls is both literally and figuratively, a feast for lovers. Director Pupo Avati's rustic drama is the chronicle of a country wedding in the Emilia-Romagna region in 1936, an occasion that calls for a 20-course meal at which the two families of future in-laws meet, and eat — and eat, and eat.

This film is a marvelous family story, full of emotion, characters, comedy and pathos. Quarrels break out, confessions fall from people's mouths — it is all trivial, mundane, ridiculous. But The Story of Boys & Girls has a core of gravity and strength that survives all outrages.

The Summer Cinema double feature for Friday through Sunday will be Hamlet and Cyrono de Bergerac.

Hamlet is director Franco Zeffirelli's screen adaptation of Shakespeare as interpreted by Mel Gibson. Gibson's performance is that of a visceral Hamlet, tortured by his own thoughts and passions, and confused by his recognition of evil. The result is a populist Hamlet that is stunning and engrossing.

The supporting cast is uniformly strong, with Alan Bates, Glenn Close, Helena Bonham-Carter, Paul Scofield and Ian Holm.

Cyrano de Bergeroc is a sumptuous vehicle for Gerard Depardieu. It is a role Depardieu was born to play, and his expansive, funny, gross, disdainful and always human performance as the gallant, grotesque soldier, poet and unrequited lover won him the Best Actor prize at the 1990 Cannes Film Festival.

Tim Burton's Edward Scissorhands and Michael Lehman's Heathers will be the double-feature offering for Tuesday through Thursday, August 11 through 13.

A Summer Cinema mini-discount book — priced at $20 for five single evening admissions — is available at both the McCarter Theatre box office and at Kresge Auditorium at show time. Single evening admission is $5 and is on sale one-half hour prior to show time, subject to availability.

For more information or for a Summer Cinema brochure, call the McCarter Theater box office at 683-8000.

Crimes of the Heart takes place in Hazelhurst, Miss., where the three McGrath sisters have come together to await news of their dying granddaddy and the trial of the youngest sister, Babe, who is suspected of having shot her husband, the prominent Zackery Botrelle, in the stomach The occasion of their reunion finds Meg has returned home from a failed Hollywood singing career, Lenny at home watching her marriage prospects diminish, and Babe growing ever more strange and incomprehensible in the wake of her husband's accident.

The story of three young women trying to escape the past and seize the future is true, touching, and consistently charming.

Like all Princeton Summer Theater productions, Crimes of the Heart is produced entirely by Prnceton students and recently graduated alums. It is directed by Rebecca Erwin, who assistant-directed As You Like It last fall. She will be a senior this year.

Crimes of the Heart will be performed August 13 to 29, with nightly shows at 8, Thursday through Sunday, and an additional matinee on Sunday at 2. Admission is $10 for students, Princeton University faculty, and senior citizens. General admission is $12.50. Call 258-4950 for information and reservations.

THE TOWN TOPICS OFFICE will close at 4 on Wednesdays through Labor Day, September 7

Musical 'Camelot' Opens At the Bucks Playhouse

Kathryn Kinley will return to the Bucks County Playhouse as Guenevere in Camelot set to run from this Wednesday, August 5 through August 16. The musical recounts the tales of King Arthur and the knights of the round table.

Ms. Kinley was seen earlier this season in Love Letters where she played Melissa Gardner. Her theatrical resume includes off-Broadway, regional and national tours of many productions. In the national tour of Camelot with Richard Burton, she played Guenevere.

Ms. Kinley's feature film credits include Desperately Seeking Susan and The Purple Rose of Cairo.

Performances of Camelot are Wednesday through Friday at 8:30, Saturday at 5 and 9, and Sunday at 7. Matinees are on Wednesday and Thursday at 2. Ticket prices are $17 for all performances except Saturday at 5 which is $19 and Saturday at 9 which is $20.

For information and reservations call the box office at (215) 862-2041.

Auditions Scheduled By Franklin Villagers

The Villagers Theatre will hold open auditions for Agnes of God, a drama by John Pielmeier, on Thursday and Friday from 7:30 to 10:30 each evening.

To schedule an appointment call the theatre at (908) 873-2710. Agnes of God opens September 25 and will continue weekends through October 18.

Agnes of God is a drama about a young nun accused of murdering her own baby. A court-appointed psychiatrist, Dr. Martha Livingstone, is asked to determine Agnes's sanity. Miriam Ruth, the nun's Mother Superior, is bent on protecting Agnes, but from what and why? In her search for answers, Dr. Livingstone forces all three women, including herself, to face some harsh realities in their own lives, and to re-examine the meaning of faith and the commitment of love.

The play will be under the direction of Jay Indik, a freelance director who has worked for Great Lakes Theatre Festival, George Street Playhouse, McCarter Theatre, Playwrights Horizons and Lincoln Center Institute. He is seeking three women ages t8 to 60. Auditioners should prepare a two-minute contemporary monologue. A copy of the script is available at the Franklin Township Public Library adjacent to the theatre.

Auditions will be held at the Villagers Theatre which is located in the Franklin Township municipal complex at 475 DeMott Lane in the Somerset section of Franklin Township.

One-Man Clown Show Planned at Woodlot Park

The Center Stage Summer Children's Performances Series sponsored by the South Brunswick Cultural Arts Commission and the Department of Recreation and Community Affairs will feature "Clowning Glory," a one-man circus featuring Jocko McKeon, on Wednesday, August 12.

This program, suitable for children ages 6 to 12, introduces the age-old traditions of the clown. Jocko demonstrates circus skills such as juggling and unicycling and discusses clown makeup and make-believe. More than just an entertainer, Jocko teaches about the importance of personal accomplishment as a product of hard work and perserverance.

The performance lasts about 45 minutes.

There is no fee, but due to limited seating, reservations are necessary. The program takes place at the South Brunswick Community Center Gym at Woodlot Park, on West New Road in Kendall Park. Call 297-4433, weekdays, 8:30 to 4:30, for reservations and information.

Puppet Theatre Fables At the Public Library

The Public Library and Young Audiences of New Jersey will present puppeteer Steve Abrams in "Puppet Theatre Fables" on Thursday, August 13, at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Free tickets for the program, which is open to children from kindergarten through grade six, are available at the Library beginning August 1, or may be reserved by telephone at 924-9529. The performance is made possible by a grant to Young Audiences from the Princeton Youth Fund.

For Steve Abrams, a professional puppeteer for more than 15 years, a family hobby was the beginning of a career that has included work as a director, choreographer, TV cameraman and mask maker as well as puppeteer. He started Pan's Puppets in Philadelphia, and his one-man show has traveled to San Francisco and to Indian reservations in Arizona, as well as to the Library and Museum of the Performing Arts at Lincoln Center. He has performed with Young Audiences since 1979.

For more information, call the Library's Children's Department at 924-9529.

Leon Redbone
Appearing at Scanticon

MUSIC

Leon Redbone Is Due For Concert at Scanticon

Leon Redbone will perform live, in concert, on Sunday, September 6, at Scanticon Princeton. The show begins at 8 p.m. Tickets are $24.50 per person. A cash bar will be available throughout the show.

Leon Redbone has been described as immensely talented, enigmatic and undeniably authentic. His loyal following includes Johnny Carson, who described Redbone as "one of my all-time favorite performers" and proved it by inviting Redbone again and again to appear on "The Tonight Show."

Mr. Redbone's warm vocals and deft instrumental skills have endeared him to fans everywhere. His highly visible presence in the recent GM Chevrolet television ad, in which he sang Getting to Know You, introduced him to millions of new admirers. Last year, Mr. Redbone guest-starred on the popular television series, "Life Goes On." The Emmy-nominated program featured a new Redbone song, Bittersweet Waltz.

Mr. Redbone's recent discography includes Red to Blue, No Regrets, Christmas Island, Sugar, and Up a Lazy River, released in 1992.

Summer Camp Choir Sang for Governors

Members of the Albemarle Music Camp Choir, a program of The American Boychoir School, sang at the opening service of the Governors' Conference at the Princeton University Chapel on Sunday.

Under the direction of Dr. Anton Armstrong, the 35-voice choir sang I Lift Up My Eyes to the Hills, by Paul Bouman, and Non Nobis Domine, by Roger Quilter. The boys and girls, all under 14 years of age, and in the third session of the music camp, did not know when they registered that they would be participating in this special program, but were very excited when they learned of the honor.

The American Boychoir, which had sung at a special dinner program at an earlier Governors' Conference, was unable to accept the invitation this time since the school is not in session during the summer. However, Dr. Armstrong, himself a graduate of the Boychoir School, decided that the camp choir members could learn the music in the week before the church service and accepted the offer to sing for the governors.

Participants from Princeton included Alexandra Budney, Alicia Fruscione, Monica Link, Jennifer Rosenberg, Erin Torre, Angela Tsai, Naomi Warner and Asher Weiss.

Choir members from Lawrenceville were Sylvie Asselin, Mark Friedman, Abigail Markoe, and Jordan Schnell.

Tone Rangers Due Next At Mercer County Park

The Tone Rangers will present a free concert Saturday at 7 at Mercer County Park in West Windsor.

The Tone Rangers features Carmen Marranco, guitarist and vocalist; Will Endebrock, fiddler and vocalist; Patt Hutt, bass player and vocalist; Dan Hutt, drummer; and John Dodd, guitarist and vocalist.

The performance will be held near the ice rink. In the event of rain it will be held inside the rink.

There is no reserved seating. The audience is invited to bring chairs, blankets and picnics.

For further information, call weekdays, 989-6899. For more information on the day of the concert, call Mercer County Park at 586-8090.

Folk Music Duo to Close Summer Concert Series

Jeanie's Guitar, a duo performing folk music, will close South Brunswick's free 1992 Summerfest Series on Friday with a 7 p.m. performance at the Woodlot Park Amphitheater on New Road in Kendall Park.

The duo, Susan Gaissert and Gary Charwin, perform a wide variety of music, from traditional tunes such as Puff the Magic Dragon, to 1960's harmony songs of the type performed by the Everly Brothers, to contemporary folk music such as From a Distance and songs performed by The Indigo Girls.

The program lasts until 8:15. In the event of rain, it will be held in the air-conditioned South Brunswick Senior Center, located in the rear of the municipal complex on Route 522, in Monmouth Junction. For the outside concert, the audience should bring lawn chairs and blankets for seating, and a picnic if they wish.

For further information, call 297-4433, weekdays between 8:30 and 4:30.

Openings in Pro Musica For New Choral Singers

Princeton Pro Musica, a 120-voice symphonic chorus, will hold auditions for experienced choral singers beginning on Monday, August 24, and running through Wednesday, September 9.

Both professional and volunteer positions are available in each section. Besides participation in the large chorus, singers have opportunities to sing in the Chamber Chorus and to perform solos. Princeton Pro Musica, now beginning its 14th season, is directed by Frances F. Slade.

Repertoire for the 92-93 season will include Symphony No. 9 by Beethoven; Schicksalslied by Brahms; Porgy and Bess by Gershwin; Handel's Messiah; and Tchaikovsky's Mazeppa. The chorus will perform with the Opera Orchestra of New York in Carnegie Hall; the Westfield Symphony Orchestra, and the Delaware Valley Philharmonic Orchestra in addition to performances with the Pro Musica orchestra.

The Chamber Chorus will perform Cantata 214 and the Magnificat in D of Bach with Concert Royal for performances in Princeton and in Merkin Concert Hall, New York. All concerts feature well-known soloists.

Princeton Pro Musica rehearses on Tuesday evenings from 7:30 to 10 in Rocky Hill. Its home concert hall is Richardson Auditorium.

To arrange for an audition time or for further information, call 683-5t22.

Final Concert Friday In the Waterloo Series

The Waterloo at Princeton Chamber Music Series will present the final concert of this season Friday at 8:30 in Richardson Auditorium.

The program will begin with two fugues from J.S. Bach's The Well-Tempered Clavier transcribed for chamber music orchestra by Gerard Schwarz. The program will also include Quintet op. 73 (1960) by Arnold, Lullaby (1919) by Gershwin, L'oracion del Torero (1934) by Turina, the Italian Serenade by Wolf, and Sextet for Piano and Winds in B-flat Major, op. 6 by Thuille.

Performers are the artists on the faculty of the Waterloo School of Music in residence at Princeton University. Tickets are $10, $8.50 for seniors and students with a Princeton I.D. To order tickets in advance, call the Waterloo box office at (201) 347-4700.

Country Music Is Next In West Windsor Series

The Cabin Creek Junction Country Band will play Sunday at 6 at the free weekly concert sponsored by the West Windsor Recreation Department. The concert will be held next to the West Windsor Town Hall. The band plays western style music.

At 5:30 representatives of the West Windsor Police and Road departments will be available to show their vehicles and answer questions. Everyone is invited and urged to bring chairs or blankets.

Tactics of Intimidation Witnessed by Resident

To the Editor of Town Topics:

On July 9 of this year, I witnessed another instance of the tactics of intimidation the Princeton Police Department has traditionally used to harass black citizens.

As I was walking on Nassau street near dark, I saw two uniformed police officers approach two young men who were standing near the entrance to Burger King. Both of the young men were black. One of the officers told one of the men that he was parked illegally on Nassau Street. The officer gestured toward the street (where all the nearby parking spaces were occupied by vehicles) and made references to the parking meter in front of the young man's car and a "red ticket."

The young man protested, stating that it was past 6 p.m. and that it was thus not necessary to put money in the parking meter. Indeed, the hour was 8:45 p.m., well past the 6 p.m. limit at which one may park free in metered spaces. Neither of the police officers replied to the young man's protest; they stood silently before the two men for a moment before leaving them and continuing to walk east on Nassau Street.

The behavior of the police officers in this situation consitutes harassment. There was to all appearances no illegal parking involved, and certainly no violation of parking meter regulations, since free parking had been in effect for over 2½ hours when the officers approached the two men. The police officers were merely using their authority in a hateful attempt to intimidate citizens.

What I witnessed was not an isolated incident. It was only one of the latest additions to the annals of the disturbing history of Princeton Police Department harassment of blacks. Only a couple of years ago a Princeton University student riding a bicycle at night was stopped by police who demanded identification and even phoned University proctors to ensure that the "suspect" (who was black) was indeed a student at the University and was not stealing the bicycle he was riding.

A few months ago, a man was stopped on the street by Princeton police, asked for identification, and told something to the effect of "Finish your business here and move along." The man was a tenured professor at Princeton University, and his flamboyant fashion taste and his skin color had evidently sounded warning bells in the minds of officers trained to interpret superficial characteristics to spot potential drug dealers.

But what matters here is not so much that the man involved is a Princeton professor, or that he is black. Instead, it is his status as a human being that entitles him, as well as the University student and the two young men near the Burger King, to be free from harassment by police.

The Princeton Police Department should use a fundamental respect for civil rights as a basis for their law enforcement and abandon the racism that has motivated it.

We Can All Be Proud Of "Our" Drumthwacket

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Sounds of hulldozers, backhoes and carpenters have reverberated pretty much nonstop for the past several weeks up through the woods separating our house from Drumthwacket, the Governor's mansion. As Mayor Reed remarked last week, there's nothing like having weekend guests to get your place in order.

But by this past Saturday evening, viewed through the fence that separates us. Drumthwacket was in splendid shape: the mansion glistened, the newly-landscaped gardens and covered walks leading to the huge backyard canopy looked absolutely idyllic. At dusk, welcomed by Governor and Mrs. Florio, the "weekend guests" — the nation's governors and their spouses — arrived to be seated for a catered dinner at candlelit tables under the spacious canopy.

Replacing the sounds of reverse-gear beeps and pounding hammers, there now were animated sounds of summer festivity, of laughter and good conversation and, as a final touch of class befitting the splendid surroundings, music of Mozart and Handel elegantly performed throughout the evening by a wind ensemble. At 10:30 the music stopped and the party was over. Guests left to prepare for Sunday's work sessions. What good and considerate neighbors!

As citizens of New Jersey, we all "own" Drumthwacket and can take great pride in how it represents us.

Sister City Exchange An Outstanding Success

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The visit of the 100-plus person delegation from Pettoranello, Italy, to Princeton Township this July was an outstanding success. The program exceeded all of our expectations because of the hard work of the following dedicated people on the Executive Committee:

Nicholas L. Carnevale, President; Antonio Pirone, Chairperson; Eleanor Pinelli, Assistant Treasurer; Mario Tamasi, Legal and Accounting; Adele Tamasi, Committee Co-Coordinator; Alessandra Mazzucato, Education; Linda Prospero, Public Relations; Robert Freda, Secretary; Joseph Nini, Treasurer; Domenic Tamasi, Committee Coordinator; Lydia Pirone, Hospitality, Keepsake Journal and Fund Raising; Richard Bilotti, Trade; Lily Freda, Travel;

And also our Princeton/Pettoranello Sister City members, friends, co-workers and volunteers:

Priscilla Snow Algava, Connie Ban, Gerry Barner, Henry Brandi, Pauline Brown, Elizabeth Carnevale, Nick R. Carnevale, Rafael Carnevale, Marjorie Carnevale, Angelo Carnevale, Joseph Carnevale, Richard Carnevale, Lou Carnevale, Henry Carnevale;

Princeton, How Low You Have Sunk

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Enclosed is an article that appeared on the front page of the Herald Tribune, Zurich edition, on June 9th, concerning Princeton's handling of the "Nude Olympics."

I lived in Princeton for 35 years before moving to France earlier this year; I therefore still feel very "Princetonian" and am, of course interested in anything concerning Princeton. I have also known about the annual nude olympics even though I could never generate the curiosity nor energy to go and look. Nevertheless, I considered them an innocent student prank.

I found it sad to read that Princeton's Police authorities and judicial system have now totally lost their sense of reality and can no longer differentiate between a prank and a crime. When my house was robbed in Princeton, the same Police Department caught the thief but could not be bothered to press charges. When my daughter's pocket book was stolen at the Hyatt I discovered that the thieves lived in Princeton and were known to the Police, but neither they nor the judicial system could be bothered.

To think that now the Police Department schemed for months to trap the participating students! They, no douht, bought high-tech surveillance equipment, military night-vision devices, etc. to plan this stake-out. This was followed by weeks of undercover work to match faces from video tapes with yearbook pictures, costing countless additional taxpayer dollars. What a royal waste of time and money!

I came to Princeton when it had a worldwide reputation, when Einstein and Oppenheimer and Princeton University were respected around the world. Now Princeton makes front-page headlines because it has become the laughing stock of the world! I can just hear Judge Sachs pontificate about the seriousness of this crime by comparison. Doesn't the fact that no single Princetonian wanted to press charges tell you something? Princeton, how low you have sunk!

I would also like to especially thank Township Committee members for their steadfast support, in particular, Deputy Mayor Ellen F. Souter and Committeewoman Phyllis L. Marchand, both of whom regularly attended the Sister City Committee meetings. Also, special appreciation to former Mayor Cathleen Litvack who initiated the program several years ago.

Finally, a grateful tip of the hat to the following institutions and individuals: John Mills, Curator of the Princeton Battlefield Park, for permitting the reenactment; The Institute for Advanced Study for hosting the Industrial seminar breakfast reception;

The Medical Center at Princeton for the outstanding tour and seminar about Princeton medical services; The New Jersey Hospital Association with Louis Scibetta and his organization — on exchange topics; The Mountain Lakes Nature Preserve and the Friends of Princeton Open Space for hosting the picnic at Mountain Lakes;

Also, The Princeton Puhlic Library and Assistant Director Eric Greenfeldt for the superb window display and the outstanding collection of Pettoranello-related books; Director Jack Roberts and the Joint Recreation Board for their approval and help in dedicating Pettoranello Gardens;

Our Township Staff, especially Jim Pascale, Pat Shuss, Linda McDermott, Bob Kiser and Sergeant David Cromwell for setting up our official reception and being prepared to speak at the ceremony; C-Tec for covering the event and showing it on Channel 8 for others to enjoy;

Also, our local papers and radio etations for sharing the events with the public; The Honorable Franco Giordano, Counsel General Philadelphia Region, for addressing us at our official meeting; my secretary, Marlene Sabo; and especially Princeton University for a wonderful reception, tour and lunch.

Last, but not least, we want to thank Pettoranello Mayor Camillo Paulino and his distinguished delegation who made the many months of hard work so worthwhile.

Molte Grazie!

Tiger Basketball Facing Tough Schedule in '92-'93

It's never too early to start crying for Pete Carril

So although it's only August, let's take a peek at the Princeton basketball schedule he'll be facing, beginning in December. Ever the history buff, Pete has drawn several poignant analogies for Tiger fans to fret about in the next four months.

"It's going to be a tough year," he says in his typical pessimistic style. "For Hannibal, it was the Alps; for Napoleon, it was Waterloo; for Lee, it was Gettysburg; for Hitler, it was Stalingrad; for Princeton basketball, it's going to be 1992-93."

Carril's concern centers on the fact that he has lost five players, including three starters, to graduation — Matt Eastwick, Sean Jackson, Jimmy Lane, George Leftwich and Chris Marquardt. He must build the team around junior Chris Mooney and sophomore Rick Heilscher.

To hear Carril tell it, the Orange and Black will be lucky to break .500, and certainly the toughest non-league schedule in years bears him out. With the new NCAA regulation barring games before December 1, the season won't start until that night when the Tigers meet Lafayette (Carril's alma mater) in Easton.

Friday and Saturday, December 4 and 5, will find the Tigers in Charlotte, N.C. for the Diet Pepsi Classic. They'll be lucky to win one here against North Carolina, South Carolina and Texas.

First Home Game Dec. 8

The first Jadwin game will come against LaSalle on December 8, and then it's off to Illinois for the Illini Classic with Illinois, Florida A&M and Jackson State on the weekend of December 11 and 12. Monday night, Princeton will be back in Jadwin to meet Loyola.

That's it for Jadwin games until January, about what Jadwin fans have come to expect. The only other non-league game here will be Washington & Jefferson after the exam break in late January. The first weekend games here will not come until the Ivy schedule kicks off against Harvard and Dartmouth on January 8 and 9.

North Carolina State, which the Tigers beat in an overtime thriller in Raleigh a year ago, will come to New Jersey, but not to Princeton. That rematch will take place in the Meadowlands on December 16. Don't worry about having to make the trek up the Turnpike; ESPN will televise the contest.

Post-Christmas, Old Nassau will head to Michigan for the Oldsmobile Spartan Classic in East Lansing. The opponents there will be Michigan State, New Hampshire and Washington State. The annual battle with Rutgers has been moved to early January, and will be played at the Rutgers Athletic Center in Piscataway this year. The Tigers will be looking to avenge the 46-41 loss to the Scarlet Knights here in 1991.

The Ivy schedule kicks in at that point with its usual weekend format. The one game not scheduled at this point is the Penn contest here. Most likely, it will be on a Tuesday night in February. The two will meet at the Palestra on Saturday, January 30. Princeton will finish its Ivy schedule at home the first weekend in March against Brown and Yale.

For the last four years, Princeton has come out of its non-league schedule with a positive record, and has gone on to win the Ivy title. The hope this winter will be that no matter how poorly they fare against the more difficult non-Ivy teams, the Tigers will be ready to make a run for their fifth straight championship.

He may worry about it with more good reason this year than ones past, but Carril will be doing his best to make certain 1992-93 doesn't become his Waterloo.

26 Contests Are Listed For Tiger Hockey Team

While Pete Carril ponders how to keep his team at the top of the Ivy heap, Princeton hockey coach Don Cahoon is hoping to guide his Tigers a little further up the ECAC Division I ladder.

In his first season here, Cahoon led the Orange and Black to a 12-14-1 mark overall,

STURHAHN, DICKENSON & BERNARD

A man named Tony Conigliaro might well have become the greatest home run hitter of all time — surpassing Hank Aaron and Babe Ruth ... It's little-remembered today that Conigliaro hit 104 homers in the majors by the time he was 22 years old — and by comparison, Aaron had hit only 66 homers by age 22, and Ruth had hit only 9 ... But then on Aug. 19, 1967, at age 22, Conigliaro was hit by a pitch and suffered an eye injury that curtailed his career ... Had Conigliaro not suffered that injury, he might have become the top home run hitter of them all — considering the start he had.

Here's an oddity ... Although Smith is the most common last name in America, there's nobody named Smith in either the baseball OR pro-football Hall of Fame.

FINANCIAL PLANS should definitely include Long Term Health Insurance IN YOUR OWN HOME.

Surprisingly, when Cal Ripken hit 30 homers in 1991 he became only the 4th shortstop in big league baseball history to hit 30 home runs in a season ... The only other major league shortstops to hit 30 homers in a season were Ernie Banks, Rico Petrocelli and Vern Stephens.

3-12-1 in league competition. Most importantly, Old Nassau claimed its first playoff victory ever, beating Colgate in the first round.

Since the current ECAC schedule was adopted in the mid-80's, the hockey schedule has not changed much from year to year. In addition to the 22 league games, Princeton will play just three non-league opponents

The first will be Boston University, which will come to town the Saturday of Thanksgiving weekend for a 3 p.m. game. At the moment, that is the only afternoon contest scheduled for Baker Rink.

The Tigers will travel to the West Coast for a two-day tournament in Los Angeles on Saturday and Sunday, December 19 and 20. Maine, Lake Superior State and Westen Michigan will also be there for the event, being billed as the Great Western Freeze Out — an unfortunately appropriate name as far as Princeton is concerned; facing those three powerhouses, the Tigers may well be frozen out of a victory.

Also on the schedule is an exhibition game on Friday, November 6 with McGill, University President Harold Shapiro's alma mater. The season will open a week later with road games at Cornell and Colgate. Harvard will be the opponent for Princeton's first home game on Friday, November 20, followed by Brown. Back-to-back contests with Yale the first weekend in December, followed by Clarkson and St. Lawrence here, will complete ECAC play before Christmas break.

There are no home games scheduled for January, but the Tigers will be in Baker on two weekends in February against *Cornell and Colgate, and Ver*mont and Dartmouth, and will finish the regular season with contests against Union and RPI the first weekend in March. That weekend will be the only one of the 1992-93 season where both men's hockey and basketball have conflicting home dates.

Counting on Veterans

Cahoon will be counting on veterans such as Sverre Sears, Terry Morris, Ian Sharp, Matt Zilinskas, Brian Bigelow and Troy Ewanchyna to continue the improvement begun last season.

Nine freshmen will also be on the roster to start the season. These include Dan Brown, London, Ontario (London Nationals); Brent Flahr, Courtney, B.C. (Bellingham Ice Hawks); Tom Flummerfelt, Lincoln, Mass. (Belmont Hill); John Kelley, Arlington, Mass. (Arlington); James Konte, Anchorage, Alaska (Rochester Mustangs); Barrington Miller, Toronto, Ontario (Wexford Raiders); Clinton Murray, Dover, Mass. (Milton); John Paul O'Connor, Montreal, Quebec (Dawson Collegiate); and Jason Smith, Calgary, Alberta (Calgary Royals).

Smith is the big 6,4, 218-pound defenseman, who is expected to make an immediate impact.

Over the summer the ECAC has made a couple of changes in the playoffs, and one concerning officials. The quarterfinals, which were just a single contest a year ago, and two games a few years before that, will now be a two-out-of-three format.

The first two games will be played on Friday and Saturday nights, a week after the regular season ends; the third, if needed, on Sunday evening. The preliminary playoff game the previous Tuesday, involving teams finishing seventh through tenth, will not be changed.

The site for the semifinals and finals will be moved from Boston Garden to Lake Placid, N.Y. The two semifinal games will be Friday evening, March 19, and the championship and consolation games, Saturday, March 20. Hockey East will continue to have its playoffs in Boston.

Finally, the league has authorized a change in officiating. There will now be two referees and one linesman, which means two officials able to mete out penalties, instead of just one.

READY FOR PLAYOFFS: Shannon Keenan (left) and Beth Ault are infielders on the Steve Ficarro softball team which will try to defend its playoff title in the Women's Softball League.

Ficarro's Beats Mercer In First Place Playoff

The Princeton-based Steve Ficarro's Auto Body women's softball team did last week what it does best — win big softball games.

Last Tuesday, Ficarro's finished the Mercer County Women's League regular season with a 14-4 thrashing of Three Seasons, in a game halted after five innings under the 10-run rule. Carol Ann Mazzella was the winning pitcher, and the hitting was led by Cindy Lombardo (four-for-four, double, homerun, three RBIs), and Beth Ault, Shannon Keenan, and Karen Wagner (each two-for-three).

Sandi Hibbs was also two-for-three, with four RBIs and Donna Nicholson was two-for-four. Ficarro's victory, coupled with Mercer Spring's narrow 1-0 win over Grove Plumbing, set up a one-game winner-take-all game for the league championship between Ficarro's and Mercer Spring, who had finished the season with identical 23-4 records.

Last Thursday, more than 200 people jammed the bleachers at Mercer County Park's Softball Field 3 to see the Mercer County Women's League championship settled. In the top of the first inning, with two out, Ficarro's right center fielder Debbie Smyth made a great backhanded catch to rob Mercer Spring's strongest hitter of a sure extra-base hit.

In the bottom of the inning, Ficarro's Cindy Lombardo led off with a single, advanced to second on an outfield bobble of her hit, went to third on a Donna Nicholson ground ball to the right side, and was driven in on a Doreen "Bip" Romanchuk RBI single, to put Ficarro's on top 1-0.

In the top of the second, Ficarro shortstop Sandi Hibbs executed a nifty double play by snagging a hard-hit ground ball, stepping on second base and throwing to Dee Discavage at first base.

Another Double Ploy

In the top of the third, Ficarro's Beth Ault, at second base, stopped a ground ball up the middle, stepped on second base and threw to first to erase two runners in another double play.

In the bottom of the inning, pitcher Carol Ann Mazzella and Hibbs both reached base on an error, Cindy Lombardo reached on a fielder's choice, and then Donna Nicholson blasted a three-run home run, which rolled to the fence, to put Ficarro's in a commanding 4-0 lead.

Another Ficarro double play, the team's third of the night, snuffed out Mercer Spring in the top of the fifth. In the last of the sixth, Ficarro's added another run, when Romanchuk singled and advanced to second on a Grace Durland single. The fleet-footed Carla Brantley replaced Romanchuk as a pinch runner and promptly scored on an Ault base hit, to increase Ficarro's lead to 5-0.

With two outs in the top of the seventh, Mercer Spring loaded the bases, but then Smyth caught the final out of the game, giving Ficarro's its seventh league championship. Romanchuk, Durland and Ault were each two for three in the contest.

"A great win," commented Ficarro's General Manager Bob Smyth, "and one richly deserved. Our players have been rising to the occasion all season, and it is only fitting that they play one of their best games in the season's biggest game."

Ficarro's will now oppose Miller Beer in the semifinals of the playoffs, and Mercer Spring will take on Grove plumbing. Those games will be played on Tuesday, August 4, with the winners meeting in a best of three series.

Rowing Regatta Planned By Carnegie Lake Assoc.

Carnegie Lake Rowing Association will hold its seventh annual invitational rowing regatta this weekend. Rowing enthusiasts are invited to stop by the boathouse at the Kingston end of the lake to watch the finish of some 16 scheduled events.

Crews from community rowing clubs in Baltimore and Chester River, Md.; Richmond and Charlottesville, Va.; Lehigh, Pa.; Wilmington, Del.; and Ventnor and Burlington will compete, along with members of the host club. Events have been planned to accommodate a wide range of rowing skills in both sweep oar rowing and sculling.

Men's open (any age, but usually younger and better rowers) eight, four, double and single races are planned, as well as men's masters (age 40 and up) eight, four and single events. Women's races include open eight, four and single events, plus a masters four race and a masters single race. There will also be a mixed (men and women) open eight and a mixed open four.

Novices will compete in a mixed eight. The final race of the day will be the coxswain's 500-meter dash, in which coxswains get an opportunity to row in a boat after spending the day guiding other rowers to the finish line.

Lunch will be available in a tent near the finish line at a cost of $5 a head. In addition to hot dogs, hamburgers and cold drinks, there will be homemade salads and desserts provided by Carnegie Lake Rowing Association members.

Tom Heebink, CLRA captain, is in charge of arrangements, assisted by Toby Taylor, Steve Rounds, Stan Carlstadt, and numerous CLRA volunteers. For further information call Mr. Heebink at 497-3608.

INTRODUCING THE SAAB 9000 TURBO. THE CAR THAT CREATES ITS OWN ADRENALINE.
The car maker that helped pioneer turbo charging fourteen years ago now takes another pulse-quickening surge forward. With the new 9000 Turbo, Saab's biggest and fastest turbo yet.
Its 200-horsepower engine goes from 0 to 60 in an exhilarating 6.4 seconds. Yet all this power comes without the usual high-performance price tag of inefficiency.
It comes instead in the form of a roomy, comfortable five passenger sports sedan, the newest entry in the Saab 9000 Series, which were rated by the Highway Loss Data Institute among the safest cars in their class.*
A fact that makes driving this Saab as soothing as it is stimulating. To experience this delightful paradox for yourself, simply come in for a test drive.

OBITUARIES

Durant W. Rohertson Jr., Murray Professor of English, emeritus, at Princeton University, died July 26 at his home in Chapel Hill, N.C., after a period of declining health. He was 77 years old.

Prof. Robertson has often been called the most influential Chaucerian of the 20th century. Among his many books, the most important include Piers Plowman and Scriptural Tradition published in collaboration with Bernard Huppe' in 1951; a translation of and introduction to the De doctrino christiono (On Christion Doctrine) of Saint Augustine, in 1958; and, above all, his monumental A Preface to Chaucer: Studies in Medieval Perspectives, 1962.

These and other studies introduced the controversial interpretive approach to medieval literature now generally referred to as "Robertsonianism." Prof. Robertson himself preferred to call his method simply "historical criticism." Ile maintained that the study of the literature of the past required both the deep philological training of conventional medieval studies and a revolutionary awareness of the fundamental historical shifts in cultural paradigms which often made the texts of the remote past as spiritually foreign to a modern reader as they were linguistically archaic.

Concentrating primarily on Piers Plowman and the works of Chaucer, Prof. Robertson constructed a series of radically revisionist interpretations of the major works of European vernacular literature. He also pioneered certain techniques now commonplace among students of medieval literature, such as the interpretive use of the vast medieval library of scriptural exegesis and the analogical study of pictorial iconography.

In addition to his works of literary scholarship, Prof. Robertson published books and articles in the fields of history, art history and theology.

He was also a brilliant, trenchant and witty teacher. His mastery of Chaucerian dialect and tone enthralled a generation of Princeton undergraduates, but his legacy lives on primarily through the large numbers of distinguished medievalists who were his graduate students.

Born in Washington, D.C., he was a 1935 graduate of the University of North Carolina where he also earned his master's degree and doctorate.

After teaching briefly at the University of Maryland and at Yale, Prof. Robertson came to Princeton in 1946, where he remained until his retirement in 1980. Ile became an assistant professor at Princeton in 1947, an associate professor in 1955, a full professor in 1960, and Murray Professor of English in 1970. In the 1957-58 academic year, he was on leave as a Guggenheim Fellow, conducting research on Chaucer at Oxford and Camhridge universities and in Paris. In 1980-81, he was a Fellow at the National Humanities Center, and from 1982 to 1984 he served as a visiting professor at Duke University.

Surviving are his wife Betty of Chapel Hill, a daughter Susanna Howley of Princeton; two sons, Durant W. Robertson III of Princeton and Douglas Robertson of Far Hills.

A memorial Mass will be held Saturday at 9:30 a.m. at St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church. A Princeton University memorial service is planned for the fall.

Leon Rosenberg, 78, of Clearbrook, formerly of Princeton, died July 18 in Cranbury. Mr. Rosenberg lived on Cherry Valley Road from 1962 to 1992.

Before his retirement in 1973, he was director of the U.S. Department of Labor's Wage Hour Division's Trenton Office for Southern Jersey. He was a member of the National Association of Federal Retired Employees.

He was an Army veteran of World War II and a longtime member and former treasurer of Nassau Swim Club.

Surviving are his wife, Helen Rosenberg; two daughters, Jessica Rosenberg Cummings of Brookline, Mass., and Martha Friendly of Toronto; two sisters, Doris Miller of Tucson, Ariz., and Pearl Zinober of Blowing Rock, N.C.; and five grandchildren.

A family service was held at a memorial home in Jamesburg. Memorial contributions may be made to the Puhlic Citizens Health Researeh Group, 2000 P Street NW, Washington, D.C. 20036.

Douglas D. Langley, 44, of Plainsboro, died July 29 at Princeton Medical Center.

Born in Millville, Mr. Langley lived in Plainsboro since 1985. He was a vice president with Stone & McCarthy Research Associates of Princeton. Previously he was a vice president at Merrill Lynch and a portfolio manager at Dean Witter, both of New York City. He was also an adjunct instructor at Rutgers University.

Mr. Langley became a certified financial analyst after receiving a bachelor's degree in economics from Rutgers University, South Jersey campus, and a master's degree from Rutgers in New Brunswick. He later became the founder of the Financial Markets Society, Princeton, and served as director at Fixed Income Analysis Society of New York. He was a Navy veteran of the Vietnam War.

Surviving are his wife, Clara I. Langley, a son, Julian of Plainsboro; his parents, Robert and Vera Langley of Millville; and a sister, Dolores Solberg of Dover, Del.

The funeral was held Friday at Mather-Hodge Funeral Home with a graveside service Saturday at Mount Pleasant Cemetery, Millville. Memorial contributions may be made to the National Stroke Association, 1420 Ogden Street, Denver, Colo., or to the Stern Stroke Center, Northwest One, Montefiore Hospital, 111 East 210th Street, Bronx, N.Y. 10467.

Peter W. Charnley, 58, of Sayre Drive, Plainsboro, died August 2 at Princeton Medical Center.

Born in Southampton, England, he lived in the Princeton area for the past 10 years. He was president of General Tool Manufacturing Co., Inc. in New York City.

Surviving are a daughter and son-in-law, Jane and Phillip Sjostrom of East Brunswick; two sons and a daughter-in-law, Simon P. and Roxann Charnley of Doylestown, Pa., and Nigel J. Charnley of Doylestown; and five grandchildren.

The service and burial will be private. Friends may call at Kimble Funeral Home, 1 Hamilton Avenue, this Wednesday evening from 7 to 9 p.m.

Jackson H. Emery

Jackson H. Emery, 88, died August 2, 1992 in Norristown, Pa.

Husband of the late F. Virginia Rockwood Emery. Son of the late Edwin Wilbur and Mary Isabelle Rider Emery. Father of Virginia E. Hendrickson of Princeton and Mary E. Custer of Norristown, Pa. Also survived by five grandchildren.

Relatives and friends are invited to the funeral service 10 a.m. Wednesday, August 5, 192, at the Reformed Church of the Ascension, 1700 West Main Street, Norristown, Pa. Interment in the Kensico Cemetery, Valhalla, N Y Contributions may be made to the Reformed Church ot the Ascension, 1700 West Main Street, Norristown, Pa. 19403. Viewing will be from 9:30 to 10 a.m at the church.

PRINCETON SMALL ANIMAL RESCUE LEAGUE SAVE
Princeton Small Animal Rescue League
SAVE

The Princeton Small Animal Rescue League SAVE is a private, non-profit, animal shelter that cares for lost or abandoned cats and dogs in the Princeton area. It is supported almost entirely by contributions and is the only service of its kind in Princeton.

If you lose a pet or find a stray contact our executive director, Mrs. Graves or call small animal control officer, Mr. Heavener, at 924-2728 and leave a message. Also call the WHWH Pet Patrol, 924-3600. If you're interested in adopting a pet call Mrs. Graves.

Be sure your dog or cat is inoculated against rabies. Remember to have your pet spayed or neutered.

LOTS OF HOUSE FOR LITTLE MONEY

RIGHT IN PRINCETON...if you thought it was impossible to find a really nice house in Princeton for a reasonable price, we'd like to tell you about a great opportunity to do just that. Sometimes you must sacrifice quality for price, BUT NOT IN THIS CASE. We're pleased to offer a handsome colonial, crafted by a well-known Princeton builder, that is spacious and economical. It features entrance hallway, living room with fireplace, dining area, kitchen, first floor bedroom or study, sunroom and powder room on the first floor. Upstairs — master bedroom and bath, two family bedrooms and bath. There are two rooms in the basement plus laundry room, hardwood floors, plaster walls, two screened porches, fenced rear garden and two-car garage. If you think all this is way beyond your means, think again. In Princeton on State Road for ONLY $229,000

GREAT HOUSE! GREAT PRICE!

Calling all lovers of the great outdoors who would like a house designed to enjoy it. This delightful 4 bedroom Princeton home with its fluted columns and sparkling white trim has been completely renovated. A creative owner has made additions to welcome the southern sun and allow a view of the sweeping lawns and luxuriant gardens. A bay window in the kitchen creates a sunny breakfast nook. The glassed walled dining room oversees the fabulous two-tiered deck. A delightful two story sunroom opens to the huge lower deck inviting summer picnics, barbeques, and a refreshing dip in the Jacuzzi. Adjoining is a panelled family room with fireplace, kitchenette and full bath. $329,000

GIVE YOUR HOME THE FIRESTONE ADVANTAGE

If You're Listing In Princeton, Call The Broker Who Is Selling Princeton

In a tough market of an oversupply of housing, we felt we had to be creative to push homes listed with us to the top of the list. We invented new ways of doing this and they work. Let us show you how we can market your property, not just advertise it. You deserve something better than "bigger." You deserve better. Give yourself the Firestone Advantage and get your property effectively marketed and sold. If you can't get your home sold, call us. We'll think of a way.

A FARM WITH A GREAT COLONIAL FOR THE PRICE OF A BIG IN-TOWN HOME. Why not give yourself and your family a special gift this year? This very special Colonial home is a decorator's delight with large, high-ceilinged rooms, glistening floorboards, and lots of history. You'll have glorious privacy now, and later you'll enjoy the financial rewards of a fine investment property. Franklin Twsp.Now priced at $699,000

"MANSGROVE" HISTORIC PRINCETON ESTATE on 3 acres still manifests all of its original charm: A great center hall with winding staircase, high ceilings, special period moldings and mantels and a lovely ballroom. Set on three acres in the middle of town it is within walking distance of everything. There are seven bedrooms, 4½ baths, eight fireplaces and enough room to get lost in. The boxwoods are lovely and old and so are the pretty gardens. Come see a home that has investment potential as well as a wonderful Princeton location.$895,000

NEW LISTING IN PRINCETON NEXT TO A BROOK IN A "PARKLIKE SETTING." This lovely 3 bedroom Ranch has large rooms with a wonderful floor plan. There's a fireplace in the family room, a large screened-in porch, and a full finished basement. A great house in a fine quiet location. $349,000
